LEARNING OUTCOMES:

Upon the successful completion of this course, students will be able to:

Knowledge

- Identify the different temporary accounts in proprietorships, partnerships and corporations and prepare appropriate closing entries.
- Describe financial statement analysis and identify its focus, standards of comparison and tools.

Comprehension

- Recognize the role of financial accounting in business decisions.
- Distinguish between an asset and an expense. Apply the cost principle to the acquisition of a variety of long lived assets. Calculate and explain the differences between several depreciation methods and partial year conventions.
- Define liability and differentiate current from long term liabilities. Calculate and record appropriate entries for known and estimated liabilities including warranties and bonds at premium or discount.
- Identify the characteristics of partnerships. Prepare journal entries for the formation of a partnership, income sharing, admission and withdrawal of a partner, and the liquidation of a partnership.
- Summarize the attributes of the corporate form. Record the issuance of common and preferred shares, and the allocation of cash dividends, stock dividends and stock splits.
- Calculate Basic Earnings per Share and explain where and how and why it is reported.
- Describe and explain the different purposes of debt and share investments.

Application

- Use appropriate accounting terms as they relate to business situations and current events.
- Compose a set of financial statements in good format from a trial balance listing of accounts and balances. Differentiate formats among proprietorships, partnerships and corporations.
- Explain and identify appropriate treatment of contingent liabilities. Explore corporate social responsibility and compare contingency accounting with other social or environmental reporting.
- Classify investments and apply appropriate accounting treatment.
- Calculate financial ratios, common-size and trend analyses.
- Explain the triple bottom line and describe how it is reported and evaluated.

Analysis

- Compare bond to share financing.
- Distinguish among operating, investing and financing activities included in the cash flow statement. Prepare cash flow statement in proper format using both the direct and indirect methods of operations.
- Identify and postulate explanations for trends in financial information.
